7. Planning
  - a. Projects of the year

The youth commission had to decide on which Field trips to take and as a team, the commission had decided to go to Sacramento. Commissioner Faraj had recommended it because the governor is there and the youth believed the team should go to strong cities. Commissioner Faraj moved for Sacramento and Commissioner Beltran seconded it. It was a unanimous vote.
  - b. City- Wide Projects

The commission decided that we would get jobs done faster if there were groups from now till December. We also decided toys for tots with firefighters during Christmas, dinner with homeless and seniors during Thanksgiving. The location to hold such feasts would be at the Senior Center Japanese: All Saints.
  - c. I Love Hayward Campaign

HAYWARD YOUTH COMMISSION
MEETING MINUTES
Monday, October 1, 2012
Hayward City Hall, Room 2A; 777 "B" Street at Watkins

---

Commissioner Bautista thought of placing t shirts for sale with design- goal is to sell for 10 dollars. Commissioner Beltran moved for the campaign, Commissioner Tauscher seconded it, and it became a unanimous vote. To be more cooperative, Michael Maine suggested that in the meantime, commissioners have homework: all members must bring a city-wide idea to the next meeting.

d. Other Projects

Because participation was less, Mr. Maine divided the commission into groups to discuss other ideas, and in result, the commissioners came up with many ideas such as bringing Hayward together: Youth should have a presence so Hayward should publicize its events (Commissioner Kaur). We also need to focus on YEP and improvements and tutoring is needed. Commissioner Faraj teaches music to children and suggested the youth make an appearance and help the children. Commissioner Mufty suggested STEM; emphasize its purpose. Commissioner Pereda suggested A Day in the Park where the youth of Hayward has fun games for teenagers. It would be a day where teens could have fun playing all sorts of games and give to the community. Commissioner Samimi added the idea of selling t-shirts at the event. Commissioner Faraj suggested an event at her school during Halloween- it would be a volunteer opportunity. Commissioner Pereda suggested workshops to improve talents of the youths of Hayward.
